

LOG TRAIN KILLS TWO.

Woodsmen Meet Death On the Rails
Near Goodman.

The mangled bodies of Joseph LeBlond and Joseph Duchaine, two woodsmen who were killed by a logging train at Goodman, are being held at Dunbar awaiting any information that may be received from relatives.

LeBlond and Duchaine had been employed by the Girard Lumber Co. After receiving their pay they went to Pembine and soon became intoxicated. They then boarded a Soo train for the West and got off at Kirton, where they started for camp on the spur track of the Goodman Lumber Company. It is thought that the men sat down on the track to empty their bottles and sank into a drunken stupor. In the darkness the engineer on the Goodman Lumber Company's locomotive was unable to see the men on the track ahead and the engine struck them. Their badly mutilated remains were not discovered until several hours later.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was that the men were killed while asleep on the right of way of the railroad by a train of the Goodman Lumber Company and that the killing was accidental.

LeBlond's home was at Montreal and it is believed that Duchaine also lived in Canada.

CITY HALL JAIL READY.

Happy "Hobson" Is the First Prisoner in New Quarters.

The new city jail in the city hall building was ready for the reception of prisoners, Monday. The first victim to occupy one of the spacious steel cells was "Hobson," he of the mighty voice.

"Hobson" is not a bad fellow only he occasionally takes on a larger cargo of joy water than he can safely navigate with and it becomes necessary for his friends among the blue coats to find him a port in which to weather the storm. He passed the night in the new jail fairly singing such familiar ballads as "The Johnson Boys" in a voice that could be heard five blocks away. Three Russians, who had been arrested for assault during the night, vigorously complained to Chief Straub that the happy "Hobson" had by his constant operatic efforts, prevented them from getting any sleep.

The jail contains four large cells of the latest pattern which furnish clean and comfortable quarters for prisoners. One of the cells is for the accommodation of women prisoners. The jail is located in the basement in the south end of the building and is well heated and ventilated. Paths have also been provided.

The old stone lock-up near the Lavenport street bridge has been abandoned after many years of service.

FIRE CLAIMS TWO SISTERS.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rosell of Plainfield, who are relatives of Mrs. Fred Perrin of this city, lost their two little daughters in a fire which destroyed their home, Saturday night.

The parents went down town to do Christmas shopping and left the children, ages 14 and 5 years, in the house. Upon their return they were crazed to find that the home had burned and both little girls had perished. It is supposed that Ruth, the eldest, lost her life while trying to save her sister. The family has many friends in Rhinelander who sympathize with them in their terrible misfortune.

POST OFFICE HOURS

On Christmas Day the Rhinelander post office will be open from 10:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m. There will be no delivery by carriers.

FRANK WALTERS IS KILLED IN MONTANA

Rhineland Boy is One of Three Victims of a Locomotive Boiler Explosion

In a locomotive boiler explosion on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway at Miles City, Mont., last Thursday afternoon, Frank Walters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Walters of this city, received injuries which resulted in his death in a Miles City hospital Saturday morning.

The unfortunate young man's parents were first informed of the accident by a telegram received Thursday evening. His mother left at once for Miles City, but Frank had passed away a number of hours before her arrival. The body, accompanied by Mrs. Walters, and Bert McCloud, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen lodge 759 of Miles City, of which deceased was a member, arrived in Rhinelander Wednesday evening. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon from St. Augustine's church. Rev. Fr. Johnson will officiate. Relatives and friends from a distance who will be present are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Walters, Mosinee, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Young, Antigo; Mrs. A. H. Stevens, Eagle River; Wm. Monk, Minneapolis. A delegation from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen lodges at Minneapolis and Gladstone will attend the services in a body.

Engineer Is Blamed
According to a letter received from trainmen at Miles City, Mont., the explosion was due to the carelessness of the engineer in allowing the water to become low in the boiler.

The accident occurred in the Milwaukee road yards. The engineer and head brakeman were instantly killed. Frank was thrown a distance of three hundred feet from the train. He was terribly burned about the face, hands, upper part of chest and right shoulder. He was rendered unconscious but revived after being placed in the hospital. In order to ease his pain it was necessary to keep the injured man under the influence of drugs most of the time. His brother lodge members gave him every attention and did all in their power to make him as comfortable as possible. The physicians state that death was caused directly by internal injuries received in falling.

Recently Visited Here.
Frank Walters was twenty-five years of age and for the last two years he had been engaged in railroad work in the West. He was fireman on a Milwaukee road passenger train between Miles City and Lemon, S. D. Previous to taking this position he had been employed on the Soo line.

About one month ago, Frank visited at his home in this city and to his family made remarks reflecting on the carelessness of his engineer. He stated that the man used no judgment and he was actually afraid to be in the cab with him.

The many friends of the young man are grieved to learn of his tragic end and heartily sympathize with the sorrowing family. Deceased carried $3600 insurance.

STRIKE SITUATION UNCHANGED

The end of the switchmen's strike is apparently not yet in sight. No satisfactory agreement has been reached between the strikers and the railway companies and it appears as though the trouble will last through the holidays and perhaps longer. Soo trains from the West continue to be late and no shipments of perishable freight are being made over that road.

According to a dispatch in the daily press the trainmen are also demanding a raise and it is feared that they too may go out on a strike.

QUARREL AT PARTY ENDS WITH MURDER

Albert Balsar Shoots John Riley During Christening in the Town of Sugar Camp

Charged with the murder of John Riley at a Polish home near Robbins, Sunday night, Albert Balsar is believed to be hiding in a dense swamp near the scene of his crime. A large sheriff's posse is endeavoring to locate the man and it is thought that he will soon be apprehended. Balsar is supposed to be lurking in the vicinity of Jennie Weber, late as smoke from small fires, probably built by him as protection from the cold, has been seen along the shore.

Trouble at Christening

The trouble which resulted in the death of Riley occurred during the christening of a child at the home of Balsar's father-in-law. In attendance at the ceremony was Balsar and family, Riley and family, and a man whose name cannot be learned. It is stated that the party was drinking freely and Balsar and Riley became engaged in a quarrel. The men exchanged several blows, and Riley, who was a powerful man, is said to have thrown Balsar bodily out of the house. Balsar then suddenly disappeared, but soon returned with a shot gun. He did not re-enter the house but at close range fired at Riley through the window. The charge tore off the top of the man's head. A second shot struck another man but did not seriously wound him. Riley lingered until Saturday morning. Dr. Stone, who was called to attend to the man, found it impossible to give him any help. The physician regarded it as remarkable that Riley did not die instantly.

Posse Is Organized

Immediately after the shooting Balsar hurriedly left the scene and it is believed, escaped into the surrounding woods. Undersheriff Baldwin was notified of the crime and drove to Robbins that night. It is said that he passed a man on the road walking towards Rhinelander, but the opinion is that the fellow was not Balsar. A posse consisting of several well known citizens of Sugar Camp was organized to hunt for the fugitive. The men are thoroughly scouring every bit of ground in that section and it is expected that Balsar's capture is but a question of a short time. A warrant has been issued charging him with murder.

Description of Fugitive.

Balsar is described as being about thirty-five years of age, light hair and eyes, weight about 150 pounds. He wore a gray jumper, a pair of stag pants buckled at the knees and new hat and rubbers. No reward has been offered for his arrest.

Both Men Known Here.

A casket for Riley's remains was sent to Robbins Monday and the funeral was held there today. The victim was an old resident of that part of the county and had many acquaintances among the Polish people in this city. Balsar is also known here.

INDIANS OBSERVE CHRISTMAS

A large number of Indians, bucks, squaws and papooses from the Lac du Flambeau reservation, were in the city Monday on a trading expedition. Like the whites, the Chippewas have an eye for the pretty Christmas gifts and while here they purchased quantities of inexpensive toys and trinkets to gladden the hearts of the little red skins. The white teachers and ministers taught the Indians to observe yuletide and there will be but few wigwags on the reservation that will not receive a visit from a colored Santa Claus.

Frank Bryant will be obliged to spend a lonely Christmas at the little town of Hazelhurst. The man who looks after his business there is soon to leave on his vacation and Frank has accordingly agreed to work in his place.

GIVES ADDRESS ON OUR CITY AFFAIRS

Mrs. W. E. Brown Urges More Rigid Enforcement of the Local Health Regulations

At the banquet of the Woman's Club, a short time ago several toasts were given which did credit to the organization. Below is an address by Mrs. W. E. Brown, which directly bears on our municipal welfare so we print it in full:

Ladies and gentlemen, fellow members of the Club:

It has afforded us great pleasure to break bread with our friends about this festive board, whether you have been willing or unwilling victims of our hospitality.

We have donned our best gowns, welcomed you with our sweetest smiles and have met you, bearing gifts of choicest viands, of fruits and flowers. Figuratively speaking we have wine and dined you. Presumably you are in the happy state of elation that follows the successful satisfying of the inner man, and we in the waiting mood, so essentially feminine, for your unqualified expressions of approval of the success of our entertainment, which I might, as well warn you, if you do not give us now will be dragged from you, on your return home.

Had this dinner been given at your own home, conjugal tradition has it, you would be cogitating in this wise. What does she want now? The individual answer presumably, being, some piece of feminine extravagance. So acquiring from the same standpoint, we suppose you being in that complacent frame of mind that follows a good dinner are asking, "What do they want?"

Yes, you are right, we do want something, in fact, we want a whole lot of things which we can only get through you. We know that at divers times and seasons, there has been some suggestion of inviting gentlemen into the membership of the women's clubs, but in spite of the apparent willingness of the gentlemen to entertain the idea, I wish to assure you that it has been proposed only as a sort of joke and much as we may regret it, the idea cannot be seriously entertained at present and I will tell you why.

The Woman's Club is supposed by some of you to be an agency through which things are done, but gentlemen this is a very erroneous impression. Its place is simply suggestive. Under existing relations women can take no initiative. It devolves upon you to do things—I still believe that to be the divine plan and wisely so. I have no doubt, for I have at present to desire to question the wisdom of the Creator for one moment.

I do not admit that woman was an after thought in the plan of creation but the completion of it. She was created as the complement of the man. You remember, when the creator made man, he said, "We will make man in our image." I have always felt that the original text was ambiguous and misconstrued in its translation, and I think the best contention that the revised edition should read, "After Our Image."

Under this conception, our economical relations are fairly right, provided you act on suggestions. "The failure of men to act well their part" has made women restless and insubordinate. So in stating our wants, we are not transcending our proper sphere as man has regulated it.

I said, we want a whole lot of things and we do. We are willing to concede to you, your position as head of the family, provided you share along with the physical care the responsibility for its moral development of that family. We are willing you should represent us as citizens of the state provided you represent us fairly, strongly and unceasingly—in maintaining a civil government that provides the best possible environment for the training of the family from infancy to manhood.

That the product for which we have given ourselves willingly, almost sacrificially, shall be given to the state, thoroughly equipped with good health, good physique, good brains and above all good morals.

That together, as a result of this co-operation, we want this product to be for the parents, a good child; for the state, a good citizen, for God, a good man.

I have thus far spoken for individual women. As members and representatives of the work we would do through the Woman's Club—we want for the city of Rhinelander which we call our home. Better conditions of municipal government.

A stricter enforcement of existing laws, or the abolishment of those laws since a broken law is far more pernicious in its effect upon the growing youth than no law at all.

A better example from you of obedience to those laws, and less tolerance toward law breakers.

We want better conditions of municipal health; better sanitary conditions in public and private buildings; a stricter enforcement of the quarantine laws.

We want a decent isolation hospital which will do much toward preventing the spread of disease, sanitary drinking fountains in our school and public buildings.

The condemnation of the present high school building and the building at once of a new one, relieving us of the opprobrium of the existing conditions which casts upon us as parents the charge of wilful persistent neglect of the physical welfare of our children.

Intelligent care of our public park. We want this park made a place of beauty and a joy forever and not disfigured by unsightly buildings so grossly offensive to the public sense of decency. Then when you cast our vote for public buildings for this city of ours, we want buildings that shall conserve economic needs, adaptability to purpose good sanitation that shall satisfy our desire for the beautiful and cultivate the aesthetic in our natures.

Finally some of us want to do some of the voting for public men and measures. We will vote for you, and I know that all of us, when you prove yourselves vigilant in granting our desire for good family and municipal government, will then consider you available candidates for admission to the Woman's Club.

And now we bid you good night. Rising from this feast of reason and flow of soul, we leave this table with the benediction of the yuletide. Peace on earth good will towards men. With a happy forecast for the next annual banquet, may we again sit about the banquet table of the Rhinelander Woman's Club in unbroken company.

FROM NEARBY TOWNS

Hurley—From Jan. 1, 1909, to Nov. 1, 1909 the municipal court of Iron county turned over to the county treasurer the sum of $1,492.55 in fees and fines. The months of November and December will increase the amount several hundred dollars and will thus make the court self sustaining. For merely political reasons several Hurley people last spring made an effort to have the municipal court abolished.

Clintonville—The new club rooms of this city will be opened to the public on Christmas day. An elaborate program has been arranged for the occasion. There will be addresses by Mayor Prenzlow, W. A. Olsen, W. E. Switzer and other prominent citizens. The new club rooms are strictly a public institution made possible through the generosity of Clintonville people. They provide a respectable place where the boys and men can spend their evenings.

Ashland—About $45,000 has been pledged by business men of Wisconsin and the city of Chicago during the last few months to aid Northland college. The aim of the campaign is $100,000 by next July and President Fenenga is hopeful of ultimate success.

Ladysmith—When Chief of Police Culver of this city finds a boy under age, who is becoming addicted to the drink habit, he takes the lad by the arm and escorts him to all the saloons where the bar-keepers can see him and then warns the men against selling him liquor. This is an idea original with the chief and he thinks that it will prove effective in keeping many boys from ruin. The police in other cities will no doubt adopt the plan.

Wausau—In accordance with the new state law the body of Mrs. Jos. eph Woodrow, aged 22, who died at the county poor house last week, was shipped to the department of anatomy of the state university. She had no known relatives and her remains were unclaimed.

New London—It is stated that the Wisconsin & Northern railway will not be built from Shawano to Appleton next year. Some time ago bids were asked for the construction work but all were rejected because the plan to finance the project had fell through. The failure of the officials to secure money to complete the road is said to be due to the secret influence of the Chicago & Northwestern railway company. It is believed that the Soo company is waiting to buy the line at a low figure and then finish the extension.

Crandon—The authorities are looking for Chas. Deum, a young man, who passed a worthless check at Fasbinder's Cafe. The name of Win. Duffrin was signed to the paper which went through several hands before the forgery was detected. Deum also cashed a forged check for $35.00 at Mr. Wright's place of business at Pelican Lake. This check like the other bore Mr. Duffrin's name.

Stevens Point—A camp of the Sons of Veterans with fifty charter members will be established by J. F. Smith, state commander, in this city. Mr. Smith has just completed organizing a large camp at Amherst.

Tomahawk—Arthur Malaney, a Tomahawk young man who is afflicted with tuberculosis, cannot enter the state sanitarium at Wales as the institution is at present crowded with patients. County Judge Hoffman recommended that Malaney be sent to the sanitarium but Dr. Coon the superintendent, writes that no more patients can be received until the new addition is finished.

Antigo—Game wardens were unusually active in this vicinity last week. Two Riemer brothers and Merrill Reynolds were arrested and fined for fishing trout from the Embarrass river. W. F. Maney of Elmhurst was also arrested for catching trout. Maney claims that Martin Robrecht, the warden, who arrested him, was a member of a party who took a number of trout from a stream at Elton last winter. He will be asked to prove the statement in court. Two Indians are serving sixty day sentences in the county jail for having too much venison in their possession. Ironwood—Six Ironwood boys whose ages range from twelve to fifteen years were arrested on the charge of robbing H. Hummel's store. The lads confessed to the robbery and returned most of the goods which they had stolen. Several stores in this city have been relieved of valuable goods of late and it is the opinion that all these robberies are the work of the same gang of boys.

Shawano—For the last three or four months, C. A. Roisler has been soliciting stock for a new state bank to be established in this city. About $20,000 has been subscribed. The bank is to be capitalized for $25,000 and the shares are to be $100. No one will be allowed more than ten shares.

MORE DANVILLE PROOF
Jacob Schall, 432 South St., Danville, Ill., writes: "For over eighteen months I was a sufferer from kidney and bladder trouble. During the whole time was treated by several doctors and tried several different kidney pills. Seven weeks ago I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Pills, and am feeling better every day and will be glad to tell anyone interested just what Foley's Kidney Pills did for me." J. J. Beardon.

CARROLL WINS MATCH.
The wrestling match between George Carroll of this city and E. F. Kampke at Woodruff, a few nights ago, was won by the Rhinelander boy in two straight falls. The small crowd of sports who watched the two men struggle on the mat were well satisfied with the exhibition. It took Carroll fifty-five minutes to gain the first fall and the second twenty-three minutes.

In the glove contest Otto Gebhrke knocked out Tony Goebel in the second round.

A CHRISTMAS ACROSTIC.

CHRISTMAS is not only a mile mark of another year, moving us to thoughts of self-examination; it is a season, from its associations, whether domestic or religious, suggesting thoughts of joy. A man dissatisfied with his endeavor is a man tempted to sadness. And in the midst of winter, when his life runs lowest and he is reminded of the empty chain of his beloved, it is well he should be condemned to the fashion of the smiling face.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

HOW many old recollections and how many dormant sympathies does the Christmas time awaken! Happy, happy Christmas, that can win us back to the delusions of our childish days; that can recall to the old man the pleasures of his youth; that can transport the sailor and the traveler thousands of miles away, back to his own friends and his quiet home. Fill your glass again, with a merry face and contented heart. Our life on it, but your Christmas shall be merry and your New Year a happy one.—Charles Dickens.

REMEMBER that as surely as in that baby life at Bethlehem there lay the power which has run through all the world, the power which makes Judas burn like a star forever; the power which has transfigured history; the power which has made millions of men its joyous servants; the power of the millennium yet to be, so surely in the humblest soul's humble certainty that it does love Christ, there has unfolded all the possibility of the most perfect sainthood.—Phillips Brooks.

IT is a good thing to observe Christmas Day. The mere marking of times and seasons, when men agree to stop work and make merry together, is a wise and wholesome custom. It helps one to feel the supremacy of the common life over the individual life. It reminds a man to set his own little watch, now and then, by the great clock of humanity, which runs on sun time.—Henry Van Dyke.

SUPPOSE a note came on Christmas Day saying, "I want my love and best wishes with this pool-ten," but, "I want you to know that your patience, or courage, or tenderness, during this last year, will help me to live more bravely and courageously this year." What a Christmas present the receipt of such a letter would be to any one of us. What a gift for any one of us to send to the human heart that has given us courage for the burden and heat of the day.—Margaret Deland.

THE season of regenerated feeling—the season of kindling not merely the fire of hospitality in the hall, but the genial flame of charity in the heart. He who can turn charitably away from contemplating the felicity of his fellow beings, and can sit down darning and spinning in his loneliness when all around is joyful, may have his moments of selfish gratification, but he wants the genial and social sympathies which constitute the charm of a Merry Christmas.—Washington Irving.

MY CHRISTMAS wish for all is that they may taste the sweetness of love, enter into the joys of friendship, and know the divine beneficence of helping someone at present less fortunate than themselves. In these words are we to find the living spirit of the human and eternal Christmas. The universal gladness of Christmas is proportioned to the extent of its manifestations. People are happy, not in what they get so much as in what they give.—Minot J. Savage.

AND those who in the same country shepherd birds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone around about them, and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them: "Fear not, for behold I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Savior, which is Christ the Lord."—From the Gospel of St. Luke.

SANTA CLAUS remains, by virtue of a common understanding that childhood shall not be despoiled of one of its most cherished beliefs, either by the mythologist, with his sun myth theory, or the scientist, with his headless diatribe against superstitions. He who does not see in the legend of Santa Claus a beautiful fable on the one side, and the native embodiment of a divine fact on the other, is not fit to have a place at the Christmas board.—Hamilton Wright Mabie.

The Christmas Tree.

Every time I see a Christmas tree studded with electric lights, garlands of tinzel gold festooning every branch, and hung with the hundred costly knickknacks the storekeepers invent year by year "to make trade," until the tree itself disappears entirely under its burden, I have a feeling that fraud has been practiced on the kindly spirit of Yale. Wax candles are the only real thing for a Christmas tree, candles of wax that mingle their perfume with that of the burning fir, not the by-product of some coal-oil or other abomination. What if the boughs do catch fire? They can be watched, and too many candles are tawdry, anyhow. Also, red apples, oranges and old-fashioned cornucopias made of colored paper, and made at home, look a hundred times better and siffer in the green; and so do drums and toy trumpets and wald-horns, and a rocking horse reined up in front that need not have cost $40; or anything like it.—Jacob Riis in Century.

A Cure for All Evils.
In certain parts of Worcestershire and Staffordshire, in England, the idea prevails that a silver coin from the Christmas morning offertory is a sovereign remedy for any ill that human flesh is heir to. Accordingly, any householder who happens to have an ailing child or other person in the house hires him to the clergyman of the parish on Christmas morning, and asks for a favor a sacrament shilling. The coin given in exchange has to be obtained by collecting a dozen pennies from as many different maidens, and then changing the coppers for a silver shilling. For this coin the applicant receives the coveted sacrament shilling, which, on being taken home, is hung round the ailing one's neck, and is popularly supposed to effect a rapid and complete cure of the complaint, no matter what it may be.

Where the Toys Are Made.
In Germany whole villages are devoted to the production of Christmas toys, and their busiest time is just about midsummer. By the end of August the receiving depots are crammed with Christmas clowns and Christmas mechanical puppets, Christmas drums and wooden horses—children's Christmas presents, in fact, of all sorts and kinds. And the travelers start out east, west, north and south with their Christmas samples about the time the corn is ready for the sickles of the reapers. In Holland, too, where more than one town is devoted, more or less, to the making of Christmas dolls, the same rule holds good. During May, June, July and August every man, woman and child in these places seem in some way to be occupied with the manufacture of miniature babies. Even at school during these particular months the sewing lessons are taken with dolls' clothes for models.

CHRISTMAS TIDE

On this Christmas day just look on the bright side, And think pleasant thoughts on this bright Christmastide.

To commemorate the day when the Christ-Child was born; He was born in a stable near the cattle forlorn.

In these humble surroundings God sent His dear Son, To show us from small beginnings great wonders were done.

For what act proved greater in all God's creation, Than to send a sweet Babe to redeem earth's great Nation?

Then shout glory to God for the gift of His Son, Who was born of a woman and reared like a man;

But was found to be God-like in every condition, Doing nothing but good to the end of life's span.

But Christ lived long enough to fulfill the conditions, For which He exchanged heaven for this sinful world.

Then He laid down His life to secure our redemption, And God willed Him back to heaven from earth.

La Grippe seems to wrench every particle of vitality from its unfortunate victims. That's where the principal danger lies; because it leaves the system in a weakened condition which invites more serious diseases. During convalescence

Dr. Miles' Nervine should be taken to restore nervous energy, and overcome this weakening influence which is the most serious effect of La Grippe.

DECEMBER 23, 1920.

The National Geographic Society has again decided that Peary discovered the north pole. Isn't the society likely at length to give out the impression that it doth protest too much.

No, the money that is being paid to the government by the big sugar industries will not be put into the conscience fund. Conscience has had nothing to do with these payments.—Exchange.

The consistory of the university of Copenhagen reports that Doctor Cook has failed to establish the claim that he discovered the north pole. They say his data are insufficient to prove his case. Commander Peary is again to the front with a boastful attitude saying "I told you so." Instead of letting the world form its own opinion. What would the consistory that examined Cook's data say of Peary's proofs? Would Commander Peary be willing to stand the test that Doctor Cook has had? Up to this time the only test that Peary's evidence has had is an examination by his friends, the geographical society of which he is an active member.

A school board convention will be held at the court house Wednesday, January 12. All members of the rural school boards are expected to be present. Four dollars a day and traveling expenses are allowed to each member in attendance. This is an important meeting. It means much to Oneida county schools. It is the only time during the school year when all the school officials of the county can get together and discuss the best interest of the rural schools. According to the state law all school board members take this obligation upon themselves when they accept their office. State Inspector Larson will be present and do his best to make this a profitable meeting.

This shall not be a "do-nothing Congress" if President Taft can prevent it, and he thinks he can. The President today reiterated his demand that the party leaders in Congress get together and put their houses in order for action.

Every senator and representative who calls at the White House gets the same story. The President wants Congress to do business, wants it to legislate along the lines of moderate reform. He frankly tells Senator Aldrich, Speaker Cannon, Jim Sherman and every one else that in his opinion the people want something done and will not give their approval to any party or Congress or leader that is responsible for inaction.

At the same time the President is not pessimistic as to party prospects. More than one discouraged Republican has been to the White House with his tale of woe and his prophecies of a reversal in next fall's elections and loss of control of the House of Representatives. The President admits all this may happen if Congress fails to do its duty and give the country some of the legislation which it expects and wants. But he does not believe Congress will fail. He has reasons for his faith. As I have hitherto advised you in these dispatches, he has the promise of Aldrich and Cannon that something will be done, and the President believes in their word.

Of course the leaders will keep their promise to the President to give him and the country some legislation, but what will it be when they get through with it? That is the interesting question.

One thing is pretty well settled, and this is that the railroads are no longer worried over the situation at Washington. They know how they are not going to be hurt.

Another is that the bankers of the country are not worried over Senator Aldrich's promise to President Taft to let some sort of a postal savings bill go through "if we can agree on the details." They know the postal savings institution set up after these "details" are agreed upon will not start any serious competition with established banking houses as recipients of the savings of the people.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A MILD MESSAGE

There is nothing in the least explosive in President Taft's first annual message to Congress. The extended program of new legislation, which he outlined in his recent speeches, is absent. In part it may have been reconsidered; in part, it may have been merely deferred for treatment in special messages later. The near-quiet situation, in particular, is regarded for such treatment. So is the large and complicated question of the amendment of the antitrust law and the interstate commerce law. The New York sugar frauds are touched upon, but so far from recommending Congressional investigation at the present stage of affairs, the President deprecates it as likely to interfere with the due course of justice. Altogether, Wall Street breathed a sigh of relief when the message was printed, and stocks went up.—New England Journal.

THE DEPTH OF INIQUITY

Some of the importers who strive to cheat the government in the payment of customs duties are men who personally are opposed to the duties. If they are not opposed entirely to a protective tariff they are at least opposed to the tariff on the articles in which they are cheating.

Others are in a lower class. They are not only thieves but double-back-action thieves. They are the men who want duties arranged to suit their own needs, and then who proceed to cheat the government in addition. They get what they want in the tariff and then sneak out of paying the full price.

Statistics are not available as to just what proportion of the Cannon-Aldrich following is made up of scoundrels of this latter class. That they form an appreciable element is beyond question. That they get the benefit of the Cannon-Aldrich process of masquerading as Republicanism is also beyond question.

The rascality has passed far beyond the stage of jest.

Even Speaker Cannon ought to see this.—Exchange.

GET IN THE GAME

Wausau Record-Herald: Whether you are in business or sport, you have to get in the game, or you will be crowded out. Both in sports and in business, the rules of the game have changed materially during the past twenty years. Only those who have kept up to date are making good. It is not so much the survival of the fittest, nowadays, as it is the survival of those who keep up to the times.

Some merchants think because they have been in business for many years, that it is not necessary to get in the advertising game. Let one of them spend an hour walking down Third street some Saturday afternoon and evening, and he will be surprised to find how few people he knows, even by sight, and he will be more surprised, if he stopped and questioned them, to find out how few there were who knew him either by sight or by reputation, or had even heard of him.

The population of Wausau is constantly changing. In addition to the thousand new people each year, the natural increase at least five per cent of the people move away each year.

and their places are filled by others. These newcomers nearly all take the paper; they want to get in touch with the city and its people, its churches, its places of amusement, its public buildings; they naturally commence trading with the merchant who invites them to do so through the advertising columns of the newspaper, and it is then up to the merchant to hold their trade.

If you want their business, get in the game and advertise. The men who are doing the largest business in Wausau, as in every other city, are the ones who advertise. Get in the game, or you will be forced to get out by your more enterprising competitors.

WASHINGTON LETTER

President Taft has entered upon a policy of disciplining the Republican senators and representatives who voted against the Aldrich-Payne tariff bill, and who are known under the general classification of "Progressives". The President aims specially at Senator LaFollette and Senator Beveridge. He has expressed his personal dislike for these two senators on several occasions recently. He has refused for six months to follow the recommendation of Senator LaFollette for the appointment of U. S. Atty. in the Eastern District of Wisconsin. It is now generally accepted that the President will turn recommended by Mr. LaFollette. He down McElroy of Milwaukee, who will probably appoint some man recommended by Senator Stephenson and ex-senator John C. Spooner. It has been suggested that Lloyd W. Bowers, solicitor general and former counsel of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, would dictate the appointment. Mr. Bowers told the writer that he had not the slightest interest in the matter and would make no recommendation. Bowers is a Minnesota man, and insists that he takes no interest in matters of political patronage.

There are indications that the President and the administration generally are planning to make trouble for Senator Clapp of Minnesota for the opposition which Mr. Clapp put up to the Tariff Bill. The Minnesota senator is one of the most open and courageous of the "progressives". He has given an additional cause for complaint from administration circles by going to Wisconsin and espousing the cause of Senator LaFollette. The "interests" would like to bring about the defeat of LaFollette, and have been very much discouraged recently by reports brought to them from stalwart sources that LaFollette cannot be beaten. To furnish Clapp it has been determined by Frank N. Hitchcock and the other political bosses, to give full support to the candidacy of Frank B. Kellogg. Kellogg is fresh from his great legal victory in the Standard Oil case and it is believed that his candidacy will appeal to the very popular elements that have been behind Senator Clapp. It is hardly a fair issue between the two men and yet men who have recently returned from Minnesota declare that Senator Clapp will defeat Kellogg hands down before the people of that state. But that does not alter the fact that the President and his advisors are eager to retire Clapp to private life.

A like fight is being planned against Beveridge of Indiana. There is an effort being made to rally the old Fairbanks following in Indiana and revive the discredited Fairbanks-Hemmenway machine with a view of controlling the next legislature against Beveridge.

Some of the senators and representatives resent the speech which President Taft made on Saturday to the Census Supervisors from a number of states, who called on him in a body. The President warned these officers that they were not to play politics. He also warned them not to do the bidding in politics of senators and representatives. In view of the fact that Hitchcock, the political boss of the administration, dictated the appointments and ignored the recommendations of senators and representatives, the President's warning is regarded by senators and representatives as a reflection on them. They say that it comes with poor grace from the President, whose brother employed Hitchcock to nominate Mr. Taft and paid him a specific sum of money to get together with promises of a place in the Cabinet, to suggest that politics may enter into the Census enumeration, through the initiative of senators and representatives. Hitchcock organized the postal service as a great political machine and dangled it before the eyes of Charles P. Taft in order to secure from the President's wealthy brother a contract to manage the campaign. And there is abundant evidence that the postal service was used then and has been used constantly since, as a great political machine, by Mr. Hitchcock. Some of the senators and representatives feel so much resentment over the President's gratuitous sling at them in the census matter; that they are talking of introducing a resolution to investigate the political activities of Hitchcock and their relation to the postal service, before Mr. Taft's nomination and since his inauguration.

TWO UNGRATEFUL TRAMPS
The Rhinelander police have been on the lookout this week for two tramps who are wanted for stealing a sum of money aggregating $270 from Joe Bula, a night watchman in a factory at Antigo.
Bula gave the wanderers permission to spend the night in the plant, but while he was making the rounds of the premises the guests departed taking with them the money which was in the watchman's coat hanging on the wall.

100 YEARS OLD.

Grandma Sanderson, of DeWitt, Mo., Has Lived a Long and Useful Life.

Grandma Sanderson is a wonderful woman. She is in as good health today as ever in her life, although she is over one hundred years old.

In a letter to the Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., she gives the highest credit to Peruna for her excellent health and extreme old age. Read what she says.

"Surely the evidence presented by such cases as these ought not only to dispel prejudice against Peruna, but inspire confidence in it."

"I will send you a picture that was taken a few weeks before my hundredth birthday."

"I am a true friend of the Peruna Company. I have derived great benefit from Peruna many times. I can say I regard Peruna a very great medicine. I found out the merit of it a good many years ago."

"A little more than two years ago I contracted a very severe cold, which resulted in la grippe. Owing to the severity of the disease, and my extreme age, my case was considered to be very critical. I employed no doctor, but Peruna was the remedy I used, and to-day my health is as good as it ever was in my life."

"However, I still continue to take Peruna, a spoonful every night before retiring."

Peruna is an ideal tonic for old people. It is a compound of herbal remedies that has been known to the medical profession for many years.

Peruna operates as a tonic by cleansing and invigorating the mucous membranes. This explains why Peruna has become so extensively known as a cathartic remedy. Cathartics is simply a condition of depraved mucous membranes. Peruna changes this depravity into healthful vigor.

A great many old people use Peruna, and would not be deprived of it for any consideration.

People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets.

JOINED IN MATRIMONY

Miss Kathryn Hagan Becomes Bride of John F. Hepburn

At St. Mary's parsonage in this city, at half past seven o'clock Tuesday evening, there took place the wedding of Miss Kathryn Margaret Hagan and Mr. John Frederick Hepburn. The ceremony was a quiet one and was performed by Rev. Fr. C. F. McGinnis of Chicago. Miss Leona Schlessmann was bridesmaid and John Gilligan best man.

The bride was charmingly dressed in a gown of white satin and carried a bouquet of white rosebuds. Miss Schlessmann wore blue silk and carried pink carnations.

Immediately following the marriage the party was driven to the residence of the bride's uncle, Patrick McDermott at 116 Mercer street, where a large number of friends had assembled to congratulate the happy pair. An elaborate five course dinner was served during which Miss Mary McQueen rendered several selections on the piano. The house was prettily decorated with similar, holly and Christmas bells. Mr. and Mrs. Hepburn departed on the Northwestern train that evening for Stratford, Ont., where they will spend a week as guests of his parents. From there they will go to Port Arthur, Ont., at which city Mr. Hepburn will engage in the furniture business.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Hagan of this city. With the exception of a short time spent at Winnipeg, Man., she has resided in Rhinelander practically all her life. She has many accomplishments and possesses a large circle of friends.

Mr. Hepburn is a native of Canada and of late has been located at Winnipeg. He spent three weeks in this city last summer and made a very favorable impression among our people. He is spoken of as a young man of sterling qualities with a keen knowledge of the business world. Congratulations are in order.

ICE SKATING RINK.

The people of Rhinelander will soon be able to enjoy genuine ice skating right in the heart of the city. Morris McRae is now building a spacious rink on Stevens street on the lot between Morgan's garage and the M. E. church. This will afford good healthful sport to the girls and boys and their elders during winter months. Workmen are now flooding the lot and the rink will be open to the public within a few days.

JACOBSON'S DISPLAY WINDOWS ON FIRE.

Through the carelessness last evening of one of the employees of the store our blanket and fur window became ignited by the gas lighter in an attempt to light the gas lights in the windows. The blanket and furs which were in the window at the time are not damaged very badly but nevertheless preventing us from selling them at a gain. Consequently we've put this merchandise on sale at a ridiculously low price. Come in and see if you can use any of the slightly damaged blankets and furs.

PLAYS ON RIPON TEAM

Rhineland Boy Makes Good Show in Basketball

Rhineland, for the first time in its history, was represented on a Ripon college athletic team when Sorenson played the last part of the game against Wheaton college. Ripon swamped the Illinois team; and incidentally Sorenson received his first real tryout in real intercollegiate company.

Ripon has had one of the best basketball teams in the northwest in the last few years, winning the state title undisputedly twice, and last year dividing it with Beloit. Twice previously they won the honors, playing under the A. A. U. rules. Sorenson played good ball in the Wheaton game and showed that he will be a good man before the season closes. He did fine work, showed marked ability on the floor, a good eye for the basket, and coolness. The intercollegiate game is more productive of a hot temper than the cleaner A. A. U. rules and takes more for a man to hold himself in check.

COLORED MAN FEELS COLD

An old colored man clad in the thinnest of clothing, with no stockings and the soles half worn from his shoes, proved an object of pity on the streets of Rhinelander last Friday. The poor fellow was nearly numb from the cold and he gladly welcomed the shelter afforded him by the police at the city jail. On Saturday he was directed to the county poor farm where Supt. Doyle fitted him out with warm clothes.

On account of the plentiful supply of work very few tramps have visited this city of late and it is seldom that the officers are obliged to care for unfortunate wanderers.

GIFTS FROM PHILIPPINES

Joel Rindall of 422 N. Brown St., received a package of Christmas gifts, last Friday, sent him by his brother, Martin Rindall, who is a sailor on the United States battleship Colorado, now cruising in Oriental waters. Among other interesting articles from the Philippines, the package contained a suit of coconut clothing such as is worn by the natives of the islands, several pretty shells, a bamboo wood comb, and two artistic pillow covers on which had been woven the American flag and eagle. These latter are samples of the delicate needle work of the dusky maidens of Manila.

"BOB'S" LITTLE JOKE

Senator "Bob" La Follette turned up in the Senate restaurant with his neck in a sling.

"What's the matter, Bob?" asked Senator Bourne of Oregon.

"Carbuncle," replied the Wisconsin statesman tersely.

"How the enemy would have rejoiced," remarked Taylor of Tennessee, "if the affliction had befallen you say six months ago."

"I haven't the slightest doubt," whispered La Follette, "that a proposition to put carbuncles on the free list would have been enthusiastically approved."

Ill Health is More Expensive Than any Cure

This country is now filled with people who migrate across the continent in all directions seeking that which gold cannot buy. Ninetenths of them are suffering from throat and lung trouble or chronic catarrh resulting from neglected colds, and spending fortunes vainly trying to regain lost health. Could every sufferer but undo the past and cure that first neglected cold, all this sorrow, pain, anxiety and expense could have been avoided. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for it cures colds, and can always be depended upon. Use it and the more serious diseases may be avoided. For sale by F. L. Hinman & Co.

When written on the parcel with pen or pencil, the words are held to be a personal communication from the sender to the addressee, thus making the matter subject to first class rates.

"In treating pneumonia," says Dr. W. J. Smith, of Sanders, Ala., "the only remedy I use for the lungs is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. While, of course, I would treat other symptoms with different medicines, I have used this remedy many times in my medical practice and have yet failed to find a case where it has not controlled the trouble. FATTEST MAN IN CANADA

Archie McCaugan of this city has in possession a picture of J. J. Muldoon, the fattest man in Canada, who died a few days ago at Mr. McCaugan's old home at South Ouelow in the Ottawa Valley. Muldoon weighed 451½ pounds. The casket in which he was buried was made to order and weighed 350 pounds.

It is stated that despite the man's immense size he was unusually agile and active, and was a graceful dancer. He was 54 years of age and was one of six brothers who married six sisters. Muldoon was a wealthy farmer and a successful farm machinery agent.

GETTING CHRISTMAS
 DINNER
 RANCH

By
THEODORE ROOSEVELT

NE DECEMBER, while I was out on my ranch, so much work had to be done that it was within a week of Christmas before we were able to take any thought for the Christmas dinner. The winter set in late that year, and there had been comparatively little cold weather, but one day the ice on the river had been sufficiently strong to enable us to haul up a wagonload of flour, with enough salt pork to last through the winter, and a very few tins of canned goods, to be used at special feasts. We had some burbels of potatoes, the heroic victors of a struggle for existence in which the rest of our garden vegetables had succumbed to drought, frost, and grasshoppers; and we also had some wild plums and dried elk venison. But we had no fresh meat, and so one day my foreman and I agreed to make a hunt on the morrow.

Accordingly one of the cowboys rode out in the frosty afternoon to fetch in the saddleband from the plateau three miles off, where they were grazing. It was after sunset when he returned.

It was necessary to get to the hunting grounds by sunrise, and it still lacked a couple of hours of dawn when the foreman awakened me as I lay asleep beneath the buffalo robes. Dressing hurriedly and breakfasting on a cup of coffee and some mouthfuls of bread and jerked elk meat, we slipped out to the barn, threw the saddles on the horses, and were off.

The air was bitterly chill; the cold had been severe for two days, so that the river ice would again bear horses. Beneath the light covering of powdery snow we could feel the rough ground like wrinkled iron under the horses' hoofs. There was no moon, but the stars shone beautifully down through the cold, clear air, and our willing horses galloped swiftly across the long bottom on which the ranch house stood, threading their way deftly among the clumps of sagebrush.

A mile off we crossed the river, the ice cracking with noises like pistol shots as our horses picked their way gingerly over it. On the opposite side was a dense jungle of bull-berry bushes, and on breaking through this we found ourselves galloping up a long, winding valley, which led back many miles into the hills. The crannies and little side ravines were filled with brushwood and groves of stunted ash. By this time there was a faint flush of gray in the east, and as we rode silently along we could make out dimly the tracks made by the wild animals as they had passed and re-passed in the snow. Several times we dismounted to examine them. A shaped footmarks in the snow, which showed where as many deer had just crossed a little plain ahead of us. They were walking leisurely, and from the lay of the land we believed that we should find them over the ridge, where there was a brush coulee.

Riding to one side of the trail, we topped the little ridge just as the sun dawned up, a burning ball of crimson, beyond the snowy waste at our backs. Almost immediately afterwards my companion leaped from his horse and raised his rifle, and as he pulled the trigger I saw through the twigs of a brush patch on our left the erect, startled head of a young black-tailed doe as she turned to look at us, her great mule-like ears thrown forward. The ball broke her neck, and she turned a complete somersault downhill, while a sudden smashing of underbrush told of the flight of her terrified companion.

We both laughed and called out "dinner" as we sprang down toward her, and in a few minutes she was dressed and hung up by the hind legs on a small ash tree. The entrails and viscera we threw off to one side, after carefully poisoning them from a little bottle of strychnine which I had in my pocket. Almost every cattleman carries poison and neglects no chance of leaving out wolf bait, for the wolves are sources of serious loss to the unfenced and unwatched flocks and herds. In this instance we felt particularly "revengeful" because it was but a few days since we had lost a fine yearling heifer. The tracks on the hillside where the carcass lay when we found it told the story plainly. The wolves, two in number, had crept up close before being discovered, and had then raced down on the astounded heifer almost before she could get fairly started. One brute had hamstringed her with a snap of his vice-like jaws, and once down, she was torn open in a twinkling.

No sooner was the sun up than a warm west wind began to blow in our faces. The weather had suddenly changed, and within an hour the snow was beginning to thaw and to leave patches of bare ground on the hill-sides. We left our coats with our horses and struck off on foot for a group of high buttes cut up by the cedar canyons and gorges, in which we knew the old bucks loved to lie. It was noon before we saw anything more. We lunched at a clear spring—not needing much time, for all we had to do was to drink a draught of icy water and munch a strip of dried venison. Shortly afterward, as we were moving along a hillside with silent caution, we came to a sheer canyon of which the opposite face was broken by little ledges grown up with wind-beaten cedars. As we peeped over the edge, my companion touched my arm and pointed silently to one of the ledges, and instantly I caught the glint of a buck's horns as he lay half hidden in an old tree trunk. A slight shift of position gave me a fair shot slanting down between his shoulders, and though he struggled to his feet he did not go 50 yards after receiving the bullet.

This was all we could carry. Leading the horses around we packed the buck behind my companion's saddle, and then rode back for the doe, which I put behind mine. But we were not destined to reach home without a slight adventure. When we got to the river we rode boldly on the ice, heedless of the thaw; and about mid-way there was a sudden, tremendous crash, and men, horses and deer were scrambling together in the water amid slabs of floating ice. However, it was shallow and no worse results followed than some hard work and a chilly bath. But what cared we? We were returning triumphant with our Christmas dinner.

CHRISTMAS VAMPIRE

Young men of Rhinelander should take warning from the following parody on Kipling's Vampire, by Carolyn Wells, which appears in the December Smart Set. There are too many dashing gallants, who desirous to do "the handsome" by their lady fair at Christmas time, make expenditures far beyond the limit of their meager purses. It is not until after the joyous yule tide has passed and the bills become due, that the generous donors realize what fools they have been. Chances are that the sweet young thing will in the end marry some man who never gave her even as much as a box of "Crackerjack".

A fool there was, and he made a gift.
(Even as you and I.)
He bought it with taste and care and thrift
(For a lady his friends thought rather swift)
And when he gave it, the lady sniffed,
(Even as you or I.)

Oh, the judgment and taste and time we waste
On the gifts at Christmastide;
Which we give to the lady who isn't pleased
(And now we know she could never be pleased
And never be satisfied.)

A fool there was, and he gave his cheque
(Even as you or I.)
For a necklace of pearls without a fleck,
(And it didn't the least suit the lady's neck)
And she never thanked him a single speck
(Even as you or I.)

Oh, the chink we lose, and the think we lose,
On the things we buy with pride.
To give to the lady who never is pleased,
(And now we know she can never be pleased
And never be satisfied.)

The fool was fleeced to his last red cent,
(Even as you or I.)
She threw him aside, when his gold was spent,
(And nobody cared where the lady went.)
And the fool gave way, to loud lament,
(Even as you or I.)

And it wasn't the loss, and it wasn't the dross,
The reason that same fool cried;
It was coming to know that she never was pleased (Seeing at last she could never be pleased
And never be satisfied.)

In order to put the Christmas stamp to good use, they should be purchased before Christmas day. Put them on letters, packages, gifts, and let your fellow-man know that you are doing your share to help stamp out consumption.

Send them to your friends and relatives outside of the state and show that you are proud of Wisconsin. Show them that you are loyal to your state and its people; that you are trying to do someone—the unknown sufferer—an everlasting kindness.

RUSSIANS DISTURB PEACE.

Officer O'Malley Arrests Four Foreigners For Disorderly Conduct. Four young Russians, with unpronounceable names, were arrested by Officer O'Malley for disturbing the peace on Thayer street, late Monday night.

The foreigners were engaged in a free for all battle and when the policeman arrived on the scene one of the quartette was badly battered about the head. The trouble is said to have originated over the ownership of a package of tobacco. In order to prevent further blood shed the officer, with some difficulty, persuaded the men to accompany him to the new city jail where they were locked up for the night. The next morning they pleaded guilty before Judge Walker to the charge of disorderly conduct and were each fined five dollars and costs or ten days with Sheriff Jilson. Shortage of funds caused two to take the jail sentence.

Officer O'Malley is deserving credit for the nerve he displayed in arresting the men. They are all tough looking fellows and could easily have done him harm had they so desired.
